

'No basis for alarm' says Tory expert on immigration

IMMIGRATION LIES!!

BRITAIN'S POLITICAL ESTABLISHMENT has, for more than thirty years, engaged in a massive campaign of deception and lies about immigration - which still continues. Britain continues to be flooded with immigrants without any democratic mandate whatsoever being sought from its own people for such a policy.

In 1995, for the first time, immigrant children will make up the majority of the school population in London. In parts of the East End of the capital Britons walking our streets are now being openly told to get out of the area by immigrants. At least 150,000 new immigrants enter Britain every year. No one knows the exact figure since there are virtually no controls over illegal immigration, and hardly anyone caught in the very few but well publicised 'public relations' roundups is ever sent back to their own country.

What is the response of our political establishment to public alarm - bland assurances that none of this is really happening at all!

The reply received from one Tory MP, Sir John Hunt, when a BN reader wrote to him of his concern, typifies the arrogance and contempt of those we pay to run this country towards their constituents. When Hunt was sent a copy of our April front page headed 'New Immigrant Flood' he claimed that he could not understand the concern, and that Britain has tight border controls!

Is Hunt perhaps not fully acquainted with immigration affairs, and does he genuinely believe what he is saying? The MP for Ravensbourne in Kent was a member of the House of Commons Select Committee on Race Relations and Immigration from 1979-1987 - he is in fact an expert on the subject. Perhaps some light may be thrown on the affair by BN's research into Hunt's background. He is Chair of the British-Caribbean Association, and a past chair of the Indo-British Parliamentary Group!

Hunt is, in fact, typical of Britain's present establishment - privileged, titled, and working hard to destroy our way of life, while deceiving the constituents he is supposed to serve about immigration.

BN issues this challenge to Hunt. Let him write to this newspaper explaining how he can claim that there is no immigration problem, when Whitehall itself says that plans must be made to accommodate at least 2 million more immigrants in the South East area alone over the next few years, and the former Chief Immigration Officer, Peter Tompkins CBE, has said publicly that the Government's published immigration figures are a sham.

Thank you for your letter of 27th April and the enclosed newspaper cutting.

I am at a total loss to understand the basis for the alarmist headlines about a "new immigrant flood".

The Government has already made clear that our border controls will be tightly maintained and that remains the position.

Prepare for immigrant flood, planners warned

By JOHN DEANS

Chief Political Correspondent

A FLOOD of more than two million immigrants into London and the South East is expected over a 20-year period which began in 1992.

While nearly as many people are forecast to leave the region, the influx is still expected to intensify the pressure for housing and services. According to the latest Whitehall statistics, the number of foreigners likely to have targeted the South East between 1992 and 2011 could be as many as 2.2 million.

What Government planners told the Daily Mail: 'A new flood of more than 2 million more immigrants is expected into London and the South East over the next 17 years'

THE LAND WHERE JOKES WERE BANNED

The Prime Minister recently joined the predictable chorus of liberal condemnation which followed tape recording of the comedian Bernard Manning's performance at a charity event.

Mr. Major said "I certainly think that everybody should avoid expressions that give offence to those who are on the receiving end of those expressions - and I believe that is true of Mr. Manning and everyone else".

Well! That just about means banning all jokes. Welcome to joke free Britain! It also means banning most TV sit-coms and soap operas. Most are constructed to portray white people in a bad light compared to ethnic minorities, who, with rare exceptions, are displayed as hard working honest people in a country filled with wicked native whites.

Curiously, different rules appear to apply when it is white people on the receiving end! Perhaps Mr. Major might care to disprove it by condemning East Enders for example?

Humour is one of the means by which we poor mortals attempt to live with adversity.

During the Second World War ordinary folk lightened their lives by making fun of all and sundry - humour was an official part of the war effort. Tommy Handley poked fun at charlatans and army officers in the immortal 'Itma'. 'Stephoe & Son', more recently, poked fun at scrap dealers. 'One foot in the grave' sends up the army of depressed, angry, older British people who have been pushed involuntarily out of employment - often in favour of younger immigrants.

In Mr. Major's po-faced Britain none of this should apparently be allowed.

No healthy society feels threatened by jokes. Mr. Major's statement underlines the instability of today's Britain, in which a nervous establishment believe they can contain massive contradictions and resentments by suppressing freedom of speech.

Who would have thought it could ever happen - a British Prime Minister officially condemning jokes?

By the way - have you heard the one about the white man who....?

Must stop now - the Joke Police are storming the premises.

'RACISM' STORM OVER CABBY ENGLISH TESTS

Two-thirds of London minicab drivers illegal immigrants:

ENGLISH TESTS for minicab and licensed taxi drivers are being proposed by the Department of Transport. The tests have been condemned as 'racist' by ethnic minorities. The Government says that cabbies should 'speak English to an adequate standard' - but admits that one reason for the proposal is to deter illegal immigrants.

The tests, if introduced, would be carried out by the taxi licensing authorities. "Two thirds of the 80,000 minicab drivers in London are illegal immigrants" said a Department of Transport spokesman recently. In other parts of the country like Leicester and Birmingham over half are black.

Sital Singh Gill of the Leicester Drivers said that language testing perhaps half of us

'RACIST ATTACK' SAY ASIANS

He threatened launching a national protest campaign. The Department of Transport say that minicab operators are often unscrupulous and will employ anyone - including those who speak no English at all.

The Government has come under pressure from licensed taxi-drivers in London who are finding their livelihood threatened by illegal immigrants who pay no tax and operate unsafe, uninsured, vehicles. Small demonstrations have been held which the media have scrupulously ignored.

The proposal for English tests will almost certainly turn out to be a public relations exercise to give the impression that something is being done about immigration. After complaints about 'racism' it will be quietly dropped. The legitimate cab drivers are terrified that they will be accused of 'racism' and will then give up their efforts to retain their livelihood.

BRITONS

Meanwhile increasing numbers of British people are being forced out of work by illegal immigrants. The retail trade is packed with people who have no right to be in Britain, as are industrial cleaning services. In one notorious recent case illegal Nigerian immigrants were found working in office jobs at an NHS hospital, despite their having no National Insurance numbers or papers.

The Government's policy is to flood Britain with immigrants both as cheap labour, and in order to destroy the community's cohesion - while pretending to control the influx.

● Simon Hughes the Liberal Democrat MP for Bermondsey, who recently took an illegal immigrant in to live with him (April BN), has been exposed as continuing to claim a 25% sole occupancy council tax rebate. Southwark Council rules say that they must be informed within 21 days if a new occupant moves in. Carl Wilkinson, who is facing deportation, and is a violent man, moved into Hughes' flat last November.

After some bluster Hughes has now agreed to pay what is due. He says that he took in Wilkinson as a humanitarian gesture after his marriage ended. BN hopes the happy couple will continue to live in complete harmony.

'Police service has declared war on men' says Police Federation

THE METROPOLITAN POLICE is being sued for sex discrimination by a group of officers from the Mounted Branch. The twelve officers were removed from their jobs earlier this year after the numbers of mounted police were reduced in a cost cutting exercise. They say they were removed in spite of having similar qualifications to women who were kept on.

Nearly forty officers in all were thrown out of the Mounted Police - all men. The Chairman of the Metropolitan Police Federation, Michael Bennett, said he fully supported the officers' action in bringing a claim for discrimination.

"There is growing concern at the way the male officer is being treated - such is the fear of a discrimination case. The police service has declared war on men. Its nice to see them fighting back" he said.

The twelve officers' action follows a recent watershed ruling in which a male police sergeant won a discrimination case after being transferred following allegations by a woman.

In Carlisle recently a police sergeant was demoted after making a lewd remark to a woman constable at a cabaret show - in spite of the fact that the constable made no complaint.

'ANTI-SEXISM CODE'

Despite the fact that she was not offended the Cumbrian forces strict 'anti-sexism code' was brought into play, and a disciplinary tribunal held, after which the sergeant was reduced to the rank of constable and moved to a station 30 miles away. The officer has appealed.

Senior officers in the police are now so terrified of accusations of 'racism' and 'sexism' that the public can no longer rely on impartial policing. Protection of careers is the first priority, with effective policing a secondary priority before 'political correctness' initiatives.

REMOVED: all 37 officers were men

GAY TIMES

In Sussex the Chief Constable has advertised for homosexuals to join in the queer Gay Times as a part of an 'equal opportunities' campaign. The same force has refused to keep the highways open when faced by violent demonstrations - in effect telling the mob that they now rule the streets.

BN says that it is high time white heterosexuals fought back against their growing marginalisation. Only the BNP stands for a decent society in which homosexuality is not indoctrinated as normal, and our country is not turned into a totalitarian state in which freedom of speech entirely ceases to exist.

Asian Labour Party branches campaign for Conservatives

AN astonishing row has broken out in the Labour Party after two Bradford branches campaigned for the Tories in May's local elections. The branches were later suspended indefinitely by Labour Party headquarters. Despite both local seats being Labour strongholds one was subsequently captured by the Tories, and the other only avoided loss to the Conservatives by a whisker.

'FAMILY, TRIBAL, AND BUSINESS INTERESTS'

Before the elections the sitting Labour Councillors had been deselected and replaced by new candidates approved of by factions within the vast Bradford Asian community. The two branches then canvassed for the Tories. The National Executive Committee of the Labour Party is examining complaints that 'family, tribal, and business interests' were involved. Arshad Hussain, the Tory victor in Toller Ward said that he was flattered to have received support from the Hindu and Sikh communities in the area. In the other seat in Bradford Moor Ward Tory Sakhawat Hussain lost by only 51 votes.

FIGHT AT COUNT

A fight broke out between rival Asian groups at one count, after a campaign in which Labour Party members put up Tory posters in their windows. Labour's ingratiating with ethnic minorities is now beginning to alienate its own white members, who find that ethnic members are there to support their own people, and have little interest in woolly liberal 'equality' schemes.

LAWLESS BRITAIN .. LAWLESS BRITAIN .. LAWLESS BRITAIN .. LAWLESS BRITAIN ..

POLICE WARN AS ASIAN RACE BATTLE AVERTED

POLICE have averted a near race war in London's Southall - but warn that an outbreak of violence between Sikhs and Muslims may only have been temporarily held back. The powder keg situation results from national divisions between the two Asian groups rather than some dispute local to Southall.

Nearly 1,000 Asians came from all over the country to the mainly Asian Southall area in West London in order to join in a pitched battle during the Muslim Festival of Eid recently. Mobile telephones were used in an attempt to outwit police, and direct rioters towards a massive confrontation.

ARRESTS

There were clashes between the two groups, and 25 people were arrested during the festival, but the police succeeded in largely keeping the rival

Warning as London race battle is foiled

COMMUNITY leaders and a senior police officer warned today that national tensions between militant groups of Sikh and Muslim youths would erupt on the streets of London after stepping in to stop a planned battle between nearly 1,000 Asian youths.

Two hundred police officers, some with riot shields and batons, were called in yesterday to keep hundreds of Muslims and Sikhs apart during the second biggest festival on the Muslim calendar, the Eid Yi Adha, in Southall Broadway.

Twenty-five youths were arrested when clashes broke out over an 11-militant groups who descended on Southall yesterday from all over the country unless community leaders were able to calm the situation.

As Asian businesses lifted the shutters today and started clearing up the debris along the Broadway, they expressed relief that a more serious clash had been averted.

Supt Smythe said: "The background is a situation of tension nationally between Sikh and Muslim youths. These groups are becoming much what we were warned would be a huge fight.

"They used mobile phones to arrange where to meet, exactly what to do and when to do it on the Broadway and they really kept us on our toes.

"We managed to avert what could have been a very violent battle. Out of 4,000 Muslims who were peacefully celebrating, a group of about 500 youths were trying to meet a group of 300 Sikhs who had gathered in Norwood.

"All our efforts were put into keeping them apart. In the event, we were successful because the fights were kept to a minimum and we prevented serious factions apart and averting disturbances on a massive scale.

Superintendent Mike Smythe, who was in charge of the police operation, said later: "All our efforts were put into keeping them apart. I get the feeling that at some stage there is going to a major battle".

The media - predictably - almost completely censored the events in Southall. Once again Britain's streets are the venue for wars imported here by people allowed into this country without a shred of a democratic mandate.

Forty-strong Asian gang attack whites in Hounslow

FORTY Asians beat two white teenagers unconscious recently in a horrific attack in Hounslow. The gang, who were armed with wooden stakes, screamed racial abuse at the two teenagers as they walked past.

Despite walking on without any response the white youths, aged 15 and 16, were kicked to the ground in the completely unprovoked attack. They were then punched, kicked, and beaten with fence stakes until they were unconscious. The two victims were left heavily bleeding on the pavement, and staggered to a public house for help.

Detective Constable Robert Young of the local police said: "They are now both so scared to go out, and admit to being extremely scared when they see a group of Asians".

Fifty-strong Ilford gangs bring machete violence

POLICE recovered a massive arsenal of weapons after violent street confrontations in Ilford Town Centre. Machetes, an axe, a meat cleaver, knives, poles, and baseball bats were found by police after vicious fighting between 50 Afro-Caribbeans.

The fighting occurred only a few days after the murder of PC Phillip Waters by black drug dealers in the area. Police officers were later commended for their bravery in stopping the fighting, which broke out at about 10.30 pm. "In the light of what happened to PC Walters the safety of officers is paramount. The situation was handled calmly and effectively" said a senior officer. Several men were arrested, and one taken to hospital with head injuries.

Capital hit by wave of mugging attacks

Londoners are being hit by an increasingly vicious wave of mugging attacks. The perpetrators have no fear whatever of the law - they know that if caught the penalties will amount to little more than a holiday paid for by the victims through their taxes. The attacks now occur in broad daylight and often within full view of dozens of witnesses, who are too frightened to intervene against ruthless thugs. Guns are now starting to be used - as in the recent mugging of a senior RAF officer in Vauxhall, who was shot five times by two black men. We report here on just two of the many daily attacks.

MUGGED Lady Jane Birdwood, 82, hospitalised by bicycle mugger

Lady Jane Birdwood was hospitalised by a black mugger recently while out posting a letter during the afternoon. She was taken to hospital in agony with suspected broken bones. Lady Birdwood has campaigned tirelessly for many years against Government multi-racial policy.

MUGGED Pensioner, 62, had head smashed against wall by mugger

A 62-year-old Notting Hill pensioner was lucky to be alive after being attacked by a mugger outside her home. The attacker was black, about 5ft. 5in. tall, and wore a grey jumper. The victim used to be self-confident but is now terrified to leave her home. Police report a spate of similar attacks locally.

BN CURRYWATCH

'Special Tonight Sir - Incredible Disappearing Curry'

BN's 'Currywatch' is in the Midlands again this month - home of the Lye International Tandoori which was fined £2,600 recently after Health Inspectors found cobwebs around the stoves, and slug trails in the food supplies.

Our team of food lovers, who visited a local chain of tandoori restaurants, came from the ranks of Her Majesty's VAT Officers.

Forty of their finest heroically chomped their way through a 63 curry marathon at the three branches of the curry empire run by Mr. Khaled Choudbury of Smethwick, and Mr. Jamal Uddin of West Bromwich. All forty of the officers are being awarded the highest award for gallantry their country can bestow - the VC - or Victoria Curry.

When the Curry Inspectors looked at the restaurants' account books after their ordeal, they found that most of the dishes they munched through had disappeared! Only 32 appeared in the account books. 1514 meals in total had been served during a period of observation, but only 579 were not 'Disappearing Curries'. A mountain of rice purchased by the restaurants had also disappeared from the books.

A total of £170,000 in tax evasion was uncovered during the VAT investigation. Choudbury and Uddin are now serving 18 month prison sentences for VAT fraud after conviction at Dudley Court. Two other partners received 12 months and 9 months.

Anyone who fancies a takeaway 'Disappearing Curry' should deliver their order to HM Prison Service, where it will receive prompt attention!

Moslem Radio Closed After 'Holocaust Denial'

A SOUTH LONDON radio station has been closed down by the Government after claiming that the Holocaust never happened.

The station, which was called Moslem Community Radio, had its licence withdrawn by the Radio Authority following complaints from Jewish organisations.

The authority said that they had no idea what the group operating the station stood for when they applied for a licence.

It appears that discussing history freely is no longer permitted in Britain - as happened in Communist Russia there is an official version of what happened in the past which no one is allowed to publicly question.

●The Director of the US Holocaust Memorial Museum in Washington, Michael Berenbaum, refused to say why the museum had no model of a gas chamber when interviewed recently by leading French Second World War historian Dr. Robert Faurisson. Another specialist on the period, Michael Hoffman, said later that it was tantamount to the Space Museum having no rockets on show.

A COALITION of extreme-left wing and Bangladeshi Councillors has taken control of Tower Hamlets Council in London's East End - ousting the Leader, Councillor John Biggs. The national Labour Party headquarters has said that it expects the Council to become a 'new Lambeth' - after the notorious 'loony-left' council in another part of London.

The Council's existing plans for a massive 'Gay Festival' in the local Victoria Park during June have already caused outrage among local residents, who say they were never consulted. Now advertisements have been placed in the homosexuals' 'Pink Paper' for queer teachers to work in the Borough's schools. Tower Hamlets says that it is hiring homosexuals to 'make its employees more representative of the community we serve'. Once again residents have not been consulted about whether they want perverts to teach their children. The Council knows very well what the answer would be from decent people.

UNHOLY ALLIANCE

The group which has taken over the council has been described locally as an 'unholy alliance' between Asians with an agenda of their own, and the hard-left.

Asians already hold 15 of Tower Hamlets 50 Council seats, and need only seven more to have a majority within the ruling Labour group.

In the recent struggle for power one Councillor, Ala Uddin, who supported Biggs, received death threats referring to a 'fatwa' against him. Sources believe that the new leader Twomey may soon be replaced by Cllr Rajan Jalal, who was suspended by Labour after sending a hoax fax accusing Biggs of 'racism'.

WHITES TOLD GET OUT

In the Brick Lane area of the Borough whites pedestrians are being told openly by Asians to 'get out of the area'. Once Asians have complete control of the Council, as they intend, an existing powder keg of an area will reach the critical point. How long will it be before whites are officially told to get out of the area?

'EQUALITY AUDIT'

The drive to recruit homosexual and lesbian teachers follows a 'staff equality audit' during May in which all the Council's staff were expected to say what type of sex they like. Nearly half the Council's bosses said they were homosexual! Perhaps many were frightened to say anything else for fear of losing their jobs. How long will it be before homosexuality is obligatory?

Half of Town Hall bosses homosexual

Clearly something had to be done to make sure all the staff are homosexual or lesbian - since it is clear the Council will be satisfied with nothing less - so taxpayers are now having to fork out for advertisements for teachers in the queer Pink Paper.

Flash-back to last year's Gay Pride festival in South London

PERVERTS IN THE PARK: Tower Hamlets residents are to see both their park and their schools taken over by militant homosexuals under the loony-left Council which runs the Borough

Following the left-wing takeover all but two Council committees have been seized by the new regime, who are preparing a new programme.

Late last year the faction who now run the Council announced plans - to a storm of protest - to sack white staff and replace them with the 'politically correct'. The faction were unable to carry out the plan until now.

The BNP is shortly to launch a new 'Wake Up Whites' campaign in response to the hard-left takeover.

Many Tower Hamlets residents still do not believe what is happening in the Borough, and think it is a bad dream which will go away.

The full Trotskyite agenda is now to be unleashed upon them - in particular in the schools where our kids will suffer near brainwashing to encourage them into the approved homosexual lifestyle.

Appeal following attacks on election candidates

TWO BNP candidates suffered vicious attacks by criminal Trotskyite gangs during the May local elections.

West Midlands organiser Keith Axon was assaulted in his home by the thugs, together with another party worker, shortly after returning home from the count. About ten intruders, armed with knuckle-dusters and hammers, forced their way in severely injuring the BNP men.

Very extensive damage was also caused to Mr. Axon's home, and an urgent appeal has been launched to compensate him for his losses, which has a target of £1,000.

Donations should be sent to Damage Fund, and addressed to PO Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW. All patriots are asked to give generously to help Mr. Axon.

In a second attack BNP Blackpool candidate Michael Gibbons was attacked in the street during the run-up to the poll, and sustained serious injuries including a broken nose. Two men were later arrested.

An indication of the sheer loathsome nature of the attackers may be gained from the fact that he was assaulted in front of his girl-friend and her small daughter, and that telephone threats were made to his girl-friend's parents.

Both candidates have said that they will not be deterred from continuing to work for the BNP.

An Independent Conservative candidate in Torbay, Mark Cotterill, suffered a second attack on his home at 2.30am, but was not injured after the attackers failed to smash their way in.

Mr. Cotterill was badly injured in the first attack several months ago - as reported in BN. Two men, Richard Hansbury from Exeter, and Richard Heyes from Paignton, are to be tried shortly for the first attack. Mr. Cotterill is a former member of a small nationalist group.

White Horse of Uffington 3,000 years old

RECENT archaeological research has shown that the White Horse of Uffington (pictured) is probably 3,000 years old - 1,000 years older than previously thought.

The Uffington horse, on the Oxfordshire Downs, is Britain's only authentically ancient turf figure. It has long been thought to date from the Iron Age, and to have been made in about 300 BC.

Five years of excavations by the National Trust and English Heri-tag have concluded with the suggestion by the Oxford Archaeological Unit that the figure was constructed during the Bronze Age in about 1,000 BC.

The unit used a new technique for calculating the time of the last exposure to sunlight of buried soil.

The dig showed that the horse figure was not simply scoured into the chalk. A trench had been cut the shape of the figure and filled with chalk from another part of the hill.

Under the current mania for 'politically correctness' an attempt is being made to deny just how ancient the British people are, and how racially coherent we are. Until the lunatic policy of mass immigration began in the 1940s, Britain suffered negligible permanent immigration in thousands of years.

The Uffington Horse research should remind Britons of their heritage, which is being destroyed by Government policy, and against which only the BNP will fight.

MP QUESTIONS RACIAL MOTIVE IN ROHIT DUGGAL MURDER

ELTHAM MP Peter Bottomley has publicly questioned whether the murder of Rohit Duggal - constantly touted by the 'anti-racist' industry as a racial murder - was racial at all.

The claim that the killing of the Asian youth was racial has become part of a stream of Council funded anti-white propaganda in the Greenwich area. MP Bottomley now says that he is 'suspicious' about claims that the murder had anything to do with race, and can find no evidence.

The police officer who headed the enquiry into Duggal's death, Detective Superintendent Douglas Auld, was adamant at the time of the trial which followed the murder that it had no racial motivation.

Naturally the facts were not allowed by the extreme-left to stand in the way of a witch hunt against white people. The murder, in fact, resulted from a silly personal argument which led to tragedy.

Duggal is only one of a number of victims of crime who have been placed into a gallery of martyrs for Trotskyite propaganda purposes. The media have been only too happy for years to go along with the bogus race attacks deception as part of a smear campaign against the BNP, and ordinary decent white folk.

While ordinary crimes are constantly misrepresented to suit the purposes of left-wing Councils like Greenwich the tragic murder of Richard Everitt by an Asian gang last year has been virtually forgotten by the media.

TO THE POINT

While I agree with readers who want it to be a punishable offence for political groups, whether BNP, Ulster Unionists, Tory rebels or National Front, to display the Union Jack, this rotten rag will soon be obsolete anyway. Scottish independence and Irish unification will leave only the St. George 'Crusader' Cross, which is offensive to all Muslims and many other minorities.

The only flag allowed in public should be that of our new European Union until that, too, is replaced world wide by a truly non-racist United Nations symbol.

'Banned till you are gay' pub tells locals

REGULARS at a Blackpool pub have been told they are barred for not being homosexual. The pub in the city's Church Street has recently changed its name from 'The Grosvenor' to 'Bodgers' - and has a new 'gays only' entry policy.

When regulars visited the hostelry shortly after its reopening they were told that they did not fit the new image, and were turned away at the door by bouncers. One local had been a regular for 25 years.

The new licensee Cliff Mair said: "Management policy is to welcome gays and gay friendly people. These people were turned away because they were not the sort of clientele we are aiming to attract. We didn't feel that they would fit in".

Bodgers has been described as 'Blackpool's first gay community pub'.

Regulars at Blackpool's Bodgers pub are told 'Don't come back until you become homosexual'

BN BRIEFING

ENQUIRY DIARY

The Public Enquiry concerning the BNP's Bookshop was lightened by quite a few delightful contributions from members of extreme left-wing organisations, who gave evidence to the Government Inspector about the 'racist' nature of the BNP.

A representative of the Indian Worker's Association, its General Secretary, Hardev Dhillon, gave a long diatribe against 'racism' at the enquiry. When cross-examined by the BNP he admitted that his association would not have Pakistanis as members, but said that this was not 'racist'!

Another witness was one Julie Waterson of the Anti-Nazi League.

She was asked whether she was aware that the only serious racial attack ever to occur near the BNP bookshop was the assault and hospitalisation of a black police officer by rioters from her organisation during the Welling riot of 1993 - an event at which she was the steward.

She replied - to a mild and disbelieving rebuke from the inspector hearing the enquiry - that the assault never took place and was invented by The Sun! The police officer was, of course, interviewed extensively on TV at the time from his hospital bed.

A gentleman from another publicly funded 'anti-racist' group said that the BNP were carrying out racial attacks all over East London. When asked for an example he said that he "could not name one offhand"!

The Chief Executive of the Board of Deputies of British Jews, a Mr. Neville Nagler, was also billed to appear, having written a letter to the enquiry apparently blaming the BNP for the entire Second World War! Large parts of the letter were blanked as defamatory and irrelevant by the Government. In the event the Board of Deputies never made their awaited appearance.

Other witnesses related how they had been given detailed accounts of 'racist attacks' near the shop by persons who seemed oddly all to be anonymous, and even more oddly had mysteriously never reported any of the attacks to the police!

Since anyone can describe any incident as 'racist' to police, and their code of practice obliges them to accept it as such, the figures for 'racist attacks' are in any case worthless - as the BNP pointed out to the enquiry.

Kissing couple logo banned from library after Moslem protests

A logo showing a kissing couple - designed to indicate romantic titles - has been banned from library books by Staffordshire Council after Moslem complaints.

An enraged Asian library user had complained to the Council about the sticker. They rushed to ban the offending item which was clearly 'politically incorrect'. The Council uses a range of logos to help library users select titles.

Local Moslem leader Mr. Mohammed Azam, of Burton's Uxbridge Street mosque, said later "This deeply offends Moslems and is completely unacceptable to our religion".

A grovelling spokesman for the Council, Mr. Phil Ford, said how sorry they were for offending local ethnic minorities, but emphasised that the logo had not even been used on any Asian books.

The Council is to replace the offensive logo with a heart symbol.

BN asks why the sensibilities of ethnic minorities and homosexuals are constantly taken into account and nobody else's? What about the decent majority who are fed up with open displays of homosexual literature in many libraries - would Staffordshire Council act on their complaints on grounds of their religion? What about normal British people who think kissing the opposite sex is perfectly alright - will British films be banned next?

The kissing couple logo banned by Staffordshire Council Libraries

You know the answer! Welcome to 'politically correct' Britain!

'No jokes or you're fired' Birmingham tells staff!

TELLING JOKES can now get you sacked in Britain. Notoriously left-wing Birmingham Council is introducing a new 14-page code of practice for employees which has been drawn up by trade union 'political correctness' zealots. Jokes and gossip are among the many crimes to be outlawed.

Directed at the minority of white men working for the Council, the new code is said to be a response to the fact that existing rules - surprise surprise - 'do not do enough for ethnic minorities and women'.

The main union behind the proposal is loony-left Unison, who say it will 'take on board the whole range of what we consider harassment'. A Conservative Councillor said that the code would create a "reign of terror for men. A man with 25 years service could crack a joke in earshot of one of these zealots and he could lose his job without union representation".

When senior BNP officer Ian Dell was sacked by Greenwich Council recently Unison refused to defend him, despite the fact that he had paid for the service through his union subscriptions, and had a legal right to assistance. An Industrial Tribunal lat-

Plain tales of life in Britain

POLICE 'RACIST' ATTACK ON STUDENT GOVERNOR

Student Grant West is a respected man in the community - a black 'Student Governor' at Camden's Kingsway College - a man who can be relied on to set an example.

Last New Year's Eve Grant went to London's Leicester Square - as he put it himself - "to boogie the night on down to some swinging junglist beats". After having a 'couple of drinks' Grant was standing around the tapdeck when the police came down the road. By then our hero had imbibed somewhat, and sat down in a doorway. As he put it himself "I was starting to feel the effects of the beers. I could not stand".

In a shocking and obvious 'racist attack' the wicked 'racist' police did something all too typical - they arrested our hero and put him in a van! In the morning Grant was released by the police after sobering up, and asked to return to assist them in the investigation of a theft.

Grant says himself that the police are frightened of 'black youth culture', and that educating them in the cultures of people around them would do no good, since they are inherently 'racist'. Earlier in the evening he had been truncheoned while 'preventing' the police from attacking fellow revellers.

Grant says that what is needed is to organise an 'effective worker/community defence programme', which will keep the college at which he is a 'governor' a 'Police Free Zone'. Only recently one of his fellow students had been thought by the police to be a well known local drugs dealer while standing outside the college.

All of us in Britain owe a debt of gratitude to young people like student Grant, who give up their spare time to be 'governors' of our institutions, while many of us waste our time in idle amusements enjoying ourselves.

BRITISH NATIONAL PARTY

ACTIVISTS' HANDBOOK

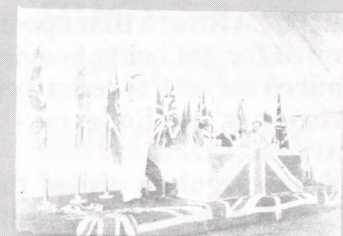

BRITISH NATIONAL PARTY ACTIVISTS' HANDBOOK. At long last this much awaited work is available. The handbook is a mine of information on the techniques of promoting the BNP, dealing in particular with the work of pioneering, building up and organising the local branch. Its various sections cover: (1) Starting with the right attitude; (2) Working alone; (3) The importance of leadership; (4) The branch meeting; (5) Literature sales; (6) Leafletting and recruitment; (7) Publicity; (8) Rudiments of branch organisation; (9) Major activities; (10) Fighting elections: basic approach; (11) Fighting elections: basic tasks; (12) The behaviour we expect; (13) People we can do without; (14) A way of life. An appendix at the end of the booklet covers basic party strategy, image-making and psychological factors in shaping public attitudes towards the BNP.

The Activists' Handbook is a 'must' for every local BNP leader and indeed for every activist who wishes to be effective in serving the party. £1.50 plus 36p p&p.

FOREIGN NEWS

4.6 MILLION FRENCH VOTERS BACK LE PEN

DESPITE years of constant vilification by the media Jean-Marie Le Pen won the votes of not far off 5 million French men and women in the recent Presidential elections.

The scale of the shift to the right in France over recent years may be gauged from the fact that M. Le Pen, leader of the Front National, won 15% of the vote, only 3.5% short of the vote for the Gaullist Prime Minister Edouard Balladur. Even the front runner the Socialist Lionel Jospin only succeeded in getting 23.3% of the poll.

M. Le Pen had to compete directly for the hard nationalist vote with Philippe de Villiers, of the Movement for France, who scored 4.74% - making his own result even more remarkable. If the two hard right votes had been put together for a single candidate, making nearly 20%, the right would have been not far off winning in the first round of the contest.

As the French political establishment licked its wounds following the poll, the liberal press refused to admit that perfectly normal people vote for the FN for perfectly good reasons. In one village in Alsace, Hengwiller, half the votes went to Le Pen - despite the fact that there are no immigrants there. One of the trump cards of the liberals, as in Britain, has always been that voters in areas with no immigrants refused to believe that the problem would ever reach them. Hengwiller is telling France that there is a new awareness at large.

HYPOCHONDRIA

One Alsace newspaper accused voters of being hypochondriacs who imagine problems where none exist - despite massive French unemployment and cities flooded with immigrants.

The head of Le Pen's campaign team in Alsace, Gerard Freulet, said "People feel betrayed by Brussels and ignored by Paris, and they are sick of government officials who have lined their pockets. They see a succession of injustices, social, professional, and fiscal, and they are saying 'My God, what exactly have I done to deserve all this?'".

DETESTABLE

Neither the Gaullists nor the Socialists are able to counter the disillusion with the mainstream French establishment.

M. Le Pen has described the choice for French president in the second round of voting, between Jospin and the Gaullist Jacques Chirac, as 'detestable'. Chirac and Jospin were 'left-wing candidates of the foreign party', he said, and traitors to their country.

COMMUNISTS

A substantial chunk of M. Le Pen's vote came from disenchanted Communists, who no longer believe in the multi-racial utopia. Even many on the left are now forced to admit the utter unfairness to white working class people of what is happening in France as their traditional jobs disappear. The French are also increasingly aware of what will happen if Algeria falls to the Fundamentalists - there will be further deluge of immigrants which none of the establishment parties will halt.

Italy has been forced to deploy troops in an attempt to block a mass influx of immigrants along its southern coast. Criminal gangs are operating a ferry service from Albania for thousands of Asians, Chinese, and Egyptians.

Jean-Marie Le Pen acknowledges applause in Paris after the poll

BRITISH NATIONALIST NEEDS YOUR HELP!

BRITISH NATIONALIST is pleased to announce that sales are at record levels, thanks largely to increasing bulk orders by local units.

The massive influx of new members since the election of Derek Beackon in September 1993 has also boosted circulation, thanks to the greatly increased number of subscriptions by individual members and supporters of the BNP.

One thing which readers constantly request is more news about BNP activities up and down the country. Despite local party activity being at its highest level since the formation of the BNP, some units are still not letting us know of their good work! Units should send us regular reports, together with any photos and press cuttings.

Readers perform an invaluable service by sending us national, international, and local press cuttings, and other items. Local papers often cover issues suppressed in the national press. We have as a result been able to expose corrupt Labour councillors. Items of local news are often of great importance in building up a national picture of what is happening. Please do not mark press cuttings, excepting the date and name of newspaper (if not shown) since this may prevent reproduction in BN.

Please help us by keeping those news items rolling in!

Public enquiry held over BNP's Bookshop appeal

THE long awaited public enquiry concerning the BNP Bookshop finally took place during April. The party had appealed against an enforcement order issued by Bexley Council, which concerned primarily the claim that the premises were being used as a headquarters without planning permission.

The BNP, and the Bookshop's owner National Organiser Richard Edmonds, had made it quite clear to the Council that the property was not used in that way, but the newly elected Bexley Labour Council were determined to use any means to harass the party.

The enquiry lasted four days and was held at Crayford Town Hall - to the understandable concern of local residents who had seen other parts of the borough suffer massive riots and looting, organised by Trotskyite groups, during recent years.

When the Council's enforcement order was issued last year the BNP was told that any public enquiry would last only one day, and the party raised an appeal for funds sufficient to cover full legal representation. The party were then told that an appeal hearing would last four days - making it quite impossible to pay full legal fees which would have amounted to tens of thousands.

Fortunately the BNP's National Press Officer Michael Newland had not only experience of planning appeals, but also some legal training. It was decided that the BNP's lawyers would prepare the case - a very large amount of work but within the party's budget - and that Mr. Newland would then present it at the enquiry.

This arrangement was extraordinarily successful in the event, and the party's Press Officer made an excellent job of putting over the BNP's case.

The whole enquiry was marked by the attendance of a freak show audience of left-wing agitators, who drove even the Council's Asian solicitor to say that he wished they had not attended, since they were not helping Bexley's case.

The agitators kept up a constant barrage of heckling of embarrassing childishness, forcing the Government Inspector to constantly threaten them with expulsion. One was arrested by police after spitting at the enquiry.

Much of the Council's case concerned the claim that the BNP should not be allowed to operate, since the bookshop attracted demonstrations. As was pointed out, the same argument could be used to throw the Labour and Conservative parties out of their premises, since demonstrations have often occurred against them over issues like the poll tax!

The BNP also pointed out that the riots had nothing to do with the party, which was an excellent neighbour, and that the troublemakers had been encouraged by the Labour Party itself with its 'anti-racist' agitation.

It was also made clear that the party has a legal right to use the premises as a bookshop whatever the outcome of the enquiry - and that it would continue to do so. The BNP also applied during the hearing to use the bookshop premises as a headquarters. Although there is no intention to operate in that way, such a permission would prevent any more Council harassment.

One of the notable outcomes of the whole enquiry was the unprecedented almost sympathetic coverage in most of the serious national newspapers. The Guardian even managed a large story along the lines of 'Inside the bookshop', which offered not a single criticism of the party - despite its editorial a year ago attacking another paper for giving the BNP publicity!

Early in the enquiry Mr. Newland described the Council's actions against then BNP as a 'witchhunt against the politically incorrect'. This seemed to have struck a sympathetic chord in the controlled media.

The Inspector hearing the enquiry said that it would take several months before his decision would be given.

The BNP must thank Michael Newland for all the hard work he put in liaising with the party's lawyers, and learning the case, enabling him to put over the BNP's arguments to the enquiry so professionally.

YOUR LETTERS

Write to: The Editor, British Nationalist, PO Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW

Sir:

I saw a sticker on a lamp post recently in Mersey Road, Walthamstow, which read:-

'BLACKS AND ASIANS UNITE
THIS IS OUR COUNTRY NOW
KILL ALL WHITE PEOPLE AND
DESTROY THE WHITE RACE'

There was no group named on the sticker. I contacted the Guardian about it, and a senior journalist told me that they could not mention it in their newspaper since they had to project a 'friendly image' of the borough.

The whole area is in a shocking state, but doesn't receive as much publicity as other 'loony-left' boroughs. So many foreign groups have set up in the area in recent years that the borough is being changed out of all recognition.

Muslim militants are regularly seen petitioning in Walthamstow market, and Muslim, Pakistani, and Indian posters litter the area.

A street in Leyton is being named after an Asian mayor, last year we had a Sikh mayor, and currently we have a Muslim who reportedly has the words 'In the name of Allah' at the top of her official Council notepaper.

An angry father recently wrote to the local paper after the Council scrapped a children's Christmas party, and held a Hindu celebration instead. A mother wrote in after her child brought home a card for mother's day - which turned out to be a Hindu card. The mayor writes a vile monthly dose of propaganda promoting our wonderful multi-cultural borough.

Name and address supplied

Sir:

British Nationalist is an excellent newspaper, and the recent article on immigration headlined 'The Horrifying Truth' was particularly good.

I cannot help feeling, however, that the BNP message is only preaching to the converted. BN should be delivered free of a charge to households where the party is standing a candidate. Saturation leafletting, canvassing, and BN through the letterbox is the way forward.

Anon

All these things are already done by the BNP and have been for years - Ed.

Sir:

It makes me furious that Bexley Council are swayed by Asians and Asian lovers into trying to close your shop.

They say their actions are by 'popular demand', so what would the Council say if hundreds of people marched to a mosque and demanded its closure. Would they try to close it?

There is no equality, as claimed, only privileges for immigrants. Our schools no longer even sing traditional British songs, only ethnic ones with drums.

Mrs. Hodges, Banstead, Surrey

Sir:

Back in the 1970s a Mr. Robert Relf advertised his house stating that it was suitable for an English couple. He was jailed for breaking the law, which says that advertisements must be free from 'racial preference'.

As far as I can remember he was released after some weeks due to ill health, and a well-publicised campaign by patriots.

I notice that in the March issue of BN we were informed of an NHS advertisement which offered management training solely to ethnic minorities. The NHS, surely, is committing the same offence as Mr. Relf. I would be interested to know if those responsible are to receive a summons.

Mr. C. Scott, Northampton

Sir:

I was sitting in a take-away shop in Sauehall Street when a vicious fight started in the street outside.

Ten young Asians attacked two others. A big meaty Asian lifted a wooden pallet out of a skip and used it as a battering ram to knock another Asian to the ground. Another Asian then battered him on the ground with a lump of wood.

When the police arrived the Asians had fled. I offered to go with the police to point out those involved, and told them which way the gang had gone. The police just looked at me and turned away. It was obvious they had no intention of trying to make any arrests.

What's going on? Have the police been warned by their superior officers to lay off ethnic minorities in case it leads to accusations of 'racism' in the controlled media? I bet the police would not have been so lax if the people involved had been white.

It is high time for fair play in policing Britain. Stop pandering to ethnic minorities.

Mr. H. Mullin, Glasgow, Scotland

CAMPAIGN '95

LOCAL ELECTIONS MARKED BY WIDENING PUBLIC ACCEPTANCE OF PARTY DESPITE 'BLAIRMANIA'

THE BNP's results in this year's local elections were most encouraging when seen against the quite exceptional and extraordinary circumstances in British politics at present.

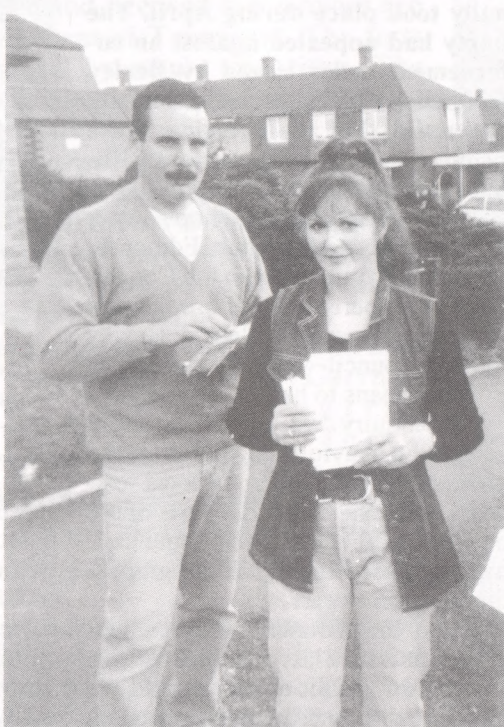

Every party in the elections except Labour had to operate against a background of unprecedented national hysteria over a man with no policies, who a desperate public wants to believe a miracle worker - Tony Blair. 'Blairmania' has swept the country hoovering up the votes of millions of disillusioned electors, who should be voting BNP if they backed their real beliefs.

Despite this background good votes were obtained by the party in some areas - the campaigns in Debden in Essex, and Kirkby East in Nottinghamshire were particularly rewarding. Unreflected in the actual poll figures was the very noticeable and increasing public acceptance of the BNP as a serious and recognised political party - among both voters who agree and disagree with us.

Isobel Hernon's result in Debden was something of a milestone for the party, and indicative of the enormous potential for the BNP in the future.

Debden is not at all traditional BNP territory. There is little crime, and no significant immigrant problem. It is both a prosperous area, and also a pleasant one in which to live.

A small team of active members, with a first class candidate, and an intelligent campaign, was able to score over 10% of the vote despite a vicious and untruthful smear campaign in the local controlled press. Such campaigns are becoming less common as public opinion becomes more vocal on the state of the country.

ON THE CAMPAIGN TRAIL! Isobel Hernon out in Debden with campaign worker

POLICIES

If the BNP can get an excellent vote in Debden, then it can do so in innumerable other areas all over the country far away from the heavily immigrant inner-cities. The party's potential is based on a wide range of policies, and does not depend on an anti-immigrant vote.

Garry Marshall scored a very creditable 7.5% in Nottinghamshire - as with Debden an excellent candidate and a small team putting out intelligent leaflets showed what can be done.

During the weekend before the poll about 35 Trotskyites rioted in the town centre of Kirkby, making massed attacks on the police. The BNP team were able to work with a helpful local police force who kept the troublemakers away. The next day the lefties distributed leaflets saying that it was the BNP who had attacked the police not them! No mention whatsoever of the left-wing riot appeared in the embarrassed local paper - despite the whole town knowing!

LIMITLESS

The BNP wishes to thank the candidates and party workers for all their efforts during the campaign. The overall lesson was that large numbers of activists are not needed to get results.

Sensible presentation and good candidates are the key, and this must be the priority for the party all over the country. The party will reap the benefit when 'Blairmania' comes to its inevitable end. Votes in provincial areas are not as high as in the capital, but the BNP message is filtering through, and the potential is limitless.

EMERGENCY APPEAL: TARGET NOW £15,073.68

We are pleased to announce another good response last month to the emergency appeal launched in April by the British National Party. A further £1,986.48 was received towards the fund's target figure of £20,000. This leaves £15,073.68 still to be raised.

The fund has been necessitated by party finances sinking to a low level due to a big fall in donations coming into general funds over the past few months. The main factor causing this was the vitally important Legal Fund, to which party supporters responded generously. The sacrifices made towards the Legal Fund left those supporters unable to contribute much to general funds. Now that the Legal Fund has been closed, the BNP must urgently refill its coffers for ordinary expenditure, which is steadily mounting.

The party would like to thank all those who have sent in contributions to the emergency appeal. There is still, however, a long way to go. For the future, all those sending in money should address it to: BNP General Fund and post it to PO Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW.

What we stand for

- The establishment of a government of national unity that will put an end to nationally divisive party warfare; the return of leadership and statesmanship to British affairs.
- An end to immigration and a start to repatriation.
- British withdrawal from the European Community: trade with Europe where it suits us but no political ties.
- The disbanding of the multi-racial Commonwealth and its replacement by a new Commonwealth of self-governing white states.
- British ownership and control of British industry and resources.
- Protection of British industry by the selective exclusion of foreign manufactured goods from the British market.
- An end to the financial swindle that causes inflation and slump, and its replacement by a sane and fair financial system that will give the people the purchasing power to buy the goods they produce.
- The subordination of the power of the City to the power of Government, and the harnessing of the City to the needs of British industry.
- The regeneration of British farming, with the object of achieving the maximum self-sufficiency in food; also the restoration of the fishing industry by protection of our traditional fishing grounds.
- A healthy environment for a healthy people -- the protection of our countryside and an end to the architectural disfigurement of our towns and cities.
- Tougher treatment of criminals, including the return of the death penalty.
- A return to traditional methods of education, with stronger discipline in the classroom and the sacking of 'trendy' teachers.
- An alternative defence strategy: withdrawal from NATO; closure of all foreign military and air bases in Britain; British withdrawal from the war in former Yugoslavia, where no British interest is at stake; the bringing home of British forces from Germany; the strengthening of Britain's defences and a position of armed neutrality.
- An end to overseas aid and the allocation of the money saved to the financing of repatriation and greater help for the needy at home.
- The crushing of the IRA, and the termination of the Anglo-Irish agreement and firm support for the loyalist majority in Northern Ireland.
- A return to healthy moral values aimed at strengthening the family and community.
